DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4-15, 17-32, and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Seibert et al (5,353,949). Seibert et al discloses vent assembly (10 & 60) that has a metal body (64) having an aperture (82), a first membrane bearing surface (70), a second membrane bearing surface (92), a porous membrane (90) having a first side in contact with the first membrane bearing surface and a second side in contact with the second membrane and forming a seal around the aperture, and a cap (66) inherently protecting the membrane.

Claims 1-9, 11-15, 17-22, 24, 26-31, 34, and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Closkey (6,464,425). Closkey discloses a vent assembly (SEE Figures 6-10) and includes a metal body (508) having an aperture for the passage of fluid, a first membrane bearing surface (SEE Figures 8 & 9), a second membrane bearing surface (502), a porous membrane (10) with filler, contacting the first bearing surface and second membrane bearing surface forming a seal, a cap (503) having passages (504), wherein the membrane is made of PTFE (SEE column 5, lines 19-40).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16 & 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Seibert et al (5,353,949) or Closkey (6,464,425). Both Seibert et al and Closkey teach the applicants primary inventive concept as stated above, but does not specifically recite that the vent body is made of stainless steel. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have case the metal vent body out of stainless steel since it would have involved a mere selection of a metal based on the basis of suitability for the intended use.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 7/14/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant has described his invention as an all metal vent assembly incorporating a polymeric membrane that is sealed over an aperture which provides fluid flow wherein the membrane is sealed over the aperture without additional elements. The applicant argues that the prior art teaches that the sealing is provided by using a sealing element or adhesive between adjacent parts, this is not regarded as patentable subject matter and can be substantiated by In re Hotte, 177 USPQ 326, 328 or alternatively Nerwin v. Elichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179 and additionally In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416, since the prior art teaches a similar structure except for the use of materials used in the sealing. Applicant has not shown criticality of compressing polymeric membrane material between two all metal bearing surfaces as opposed to what is disclosed in the prior art and it is well settled that a patent cannot be granted for an applicant's discovery of a result (as mentioned in the last paragraph of the arguments of 7/14/06) even though it may be unexpectedly good, which would flow logically from the teaching of the prior art.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
